SPITTING NUISANCE.

Hawking and Spitting is Caused by Catarrh Germs.

If the local authorities want to stop the disgusting habit of spitting mucus on the sidewalk, they had better instruct the people as to the best method of killing the catarrh germs and curing catarrh.

You can easily tell by reading the symptoms below whether you have catarrh or not:

Offensive breath, frequent sneezing, discharge from nose, stoppage of the nose, huskiness of the voice, tickling in the throat, a cough, pain in chest, loss of strength, variable appetite, raising of mucus, difficulty in breathing, loss of vital force.

E. J. Jenkins has a sensible remedy (money back if it fails) for catarrh, called Hyomel, which is a vaporized air so antiseptic that when it is breathed over the inflamed and germ-infested membrane, it kills all germ life and cures catarrh.

The price including hard rubber inhaler, is only $1, and money back if it doesn't cure. Extrabottles 50 cents.

"I have tried almost every catarrh cure on the market without benefit. Have been using Hyomel for one week and feel like a new man already."—Wm. V. Goode, Newark, Ohio, June 21, 1909.

MI-ONA Cures Indigestion

Before I had finished the contents of one box, I felt great relief. I am continuing their use and hope to receive a complete cure. I heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to all my friends who are in need of a kidney remedy, for I know they live up to the claims made for them."

Ever so many Texas newspapers have been calling on Senator Culbertson to say something on the tariff question. Well, he has said something. Now what are they going to do about it?

The newest rifle with which the army is to be equipped shoots 400 shots per minute and can kill a man two miles away. The devil seems to be getting his share of the products of modern inventive genius.

The Cleburne Enterprise hits the spot in this paragraph: "Development of the surrounding country is one of the best methods of the city building, for it increases the trade of the merchants. Interurbans are among the most rapid developers of a country."

The people of the states through which Taft is passing on his tour are greeting him with the respect due to the chief magistrate of the nation but there is no evidence of enthusiasm. This shows that the people realize that he is an inglorious quitter who lay down when he met with opposition to the performance of his promises.

Says the Brownwood Bulletin: "There are too many Brownwood people who imagine they are at work for the town when they are really only making a noise like work." but making a "noise like working" is better than doing nothing; it shows that you have respect for the workers and are ashamed to be considered one of the loafers.

Secretary P. F. Paige of the Prohibition party state committee announces that the prohibitionists will not assist in the effort to get control of the Democratic party but will act independently in the campaign next year. This decision increases the probability that some conservative man will receive the Democratic nomination for governor.

The Eagle has often called attention to the obvious truth strongly stated in this paragraph from the Palestine Herald: "We have no interest in the big prize fight set for tonight, but we cannot refrain from the opinion that when a white man goes into a ring to fight a negro he deserves to have the breath knocked out of him in short order."

There are but few negroes in West Texas and in some places the people by common consent refuse to allow them to settle. At San Angelo the Orient railroad imported 300 negroes for track grading. A mass meeting of citizens was held Tuesday night and resolutions were passed demanding that the negroes be removed. Wednesday morning a negro porter in a San Angelo bank was severely beaten by two white men. West Texas is not a healthy country for negroes. They are safest in their old homes among the people who know them.

The "Sillinger" Stakes.

It only takes a few hours to get from any part of England to Doncaster, see the race for the St. Leger and return home. Yet in the coaching times a journey from London to Doncaster occupied a couple of days.

Taking its name from a famous Doncaster sportsman, Colonel St. Leger—properly pronounced "Sillinger"—the race is the second oldest horse racing event in the country. It was founded in 1776 and always arouses the greatest enthusiasm in the north of England. In fact, in the pre-railway days laborers living fifty miles away would save up their shillings for weeks, walk to Doncaster, see the race, have a bet and walk home again.
John Scott, who in his day was visited by peers, lawyers, poets and authors of all degrees, trained sixteen St. Leger winners. There have been many memorable finishes to the race, and on one occasion a horse named Theodore, against whom the odds were quoted at 1,000 to a walking stick—officially 1,000 to 5—won handsomely.
The largest field was thirty, in 1825, and the smallest four, in 1783 and 1785. A horse named Ninety-three won in 1793.—London Saturday Review.

Entertaining and Hospitality.
I have no sympathy with the tired murmur of the straining women who speak of entertaining as "a duty to society." We all have duties to society, but entertaining is not one of them. There is no more obligation for a woman to entertain than there is for a man to swap horses with a neighbor. The conditions as they now exist are identical. The neighbor may desire to swap his horse, but no man feels bound on that account to exchange his own for it against his wish. Since I have recognized the market value of my own horse and how much I am always expected to give "to boot," I never swap.

The real and usually neglected duty to society is hospitality, and that has an important distinction from entertaining. It is hospitality only when the entertainment is without hope of reward. The moment the host hopes to receive in exchange even a good opinion, a little affection or admiration it ceases to be hospitality and becomes entertaining. The foundation of hospitality must be perfect unselfishness.

The question left us to solve in individual cases is, which will give the most satisfaction as society is now organized?—Ethel Davis in "Disobedience and Caste."

Time at the North Pole.

At the north pole time is nothing, and if one were residing at the north pole it would be unnecessary to wind one's watch. You are always at 12 o'clock and can't walk out of the hotel without walking south. All times of day meet at the pole as the meeting place of all the meridians. A man sitting with the invisible mathematical point right under him would be in all twenty-four hours at once, or a twenty-four hour watch placed on the pole could be made to point to the correct time in every part of the world. There used to be something of an approximation to this in the extreme north of Norway, where the degrees of longitude squeeze in, until recent days. Captains of Norwegian coasting schooners will tell you how inconvenient it was to change between the time of Holland at Bergen and that of Crete at the North cape while correct local time was maintained. General Norwegian time became indispensable.

A Traveler's Tale.

The passengers were beginning the journey with pleasant conversation. One man in particular, who had the look of a traveler, told of long sojourns in foreign lands and kept them all interested with his anecdotes. "Yes, gentlemen," said he, "there is nothing like travel to expand the mind. Now, I don't suppose, for instance, that many of you have ever seen a beet root putting on a waistcoat?" His fellow passengers stared in surprise. "No, we certainly have not!" "Or a lettuce donning a pair of trousers?" "No!" "Or a spring onion fixing on its tie and collar?" "No, not even that!" "Well, gentlemen," said the traveler as the train drew up at the terminus and he prepared to alight, "you may believe me or not, as you like, but several times in my travels I have seen not only a beet root or a lettuce or an onion but a whole salad dressing!"—London Mail.

Paupers' Paradise.

The authorities of Samoa, the little island upon which Robert Louis Stevenson lived and died, provide board and lodging absolutely free to strangers who are unable or unwilling to pay for their keep. Every village on the island has a guest house, called a "faletele," and here the tourist is invited to come and be fed, lodged and entertained without any payment whatever.

The officials of the town of Klingenberg-on-the-Main, in Bavaria, are exceptionally generous, for they not only provide free beds and free board to poor people, but give away big puddings every year end to all who ask for them. Klingenberg owns several pottery clay pits that bring in so much money to the town coffers that they pay all the town expenses and leave a good round sum over, which is distributed to charity. Klingenberg is one of the few places where taxes are unknown.

Her Logic.

A United States senator in one of his campaigns told this story to illustrate the logic of an opponent: Did you ever hear about the young woman in Fort Dodge? One spring morning she sat on the piazza of her pretty little home sewing a button on her husband's coat. The husband himself appeared, and she said fretfully: "It's a perfect shame the careless way the tailor sewed this button on. This is the fifth time I've had to sew it on again for you."

"Sparks."

"I wonder," said young Mr. Stay-late, hunting around for subject matter of conversation, "why they used to call beaus 'sparks'?"

"Perhaps," replied the suffering maiden, deftly showing a yawn in the act of apparently concealing it. "It was because sometimes they went out."—San Francisco Chronicle.

No Jewish Lullabies.

It is remarkable that, notwithstanding the love and devotion of a Jewish mother, there seems to be no trace of a real Jewish lullaby. Those known are of a recent origin.—American Hebrew.

Her Gamble.

"Did you ever gamble, ma?"
"Only once, my son."
"And when was that?"
"When I married your father."—Princeton Gazette.

Eye Use and Abuse.

Those tired eyes of yours will stand lots of abuse, yet there is a limit to their patience and their power. You may worry along for quite a while, but there will come a time when you will regret your present indifference.

Here are a few hints:—Headache, Dizziness—Aversion to Bright Light—Sleepy Feeling while Reading—Blurring of Objects either at close range or at distance—Frowning or Squinting—Smarting or Burning Sensation in or around the eyes—Fatigue or requiring stronger light when reading—Dark Spots floating or Bright Lights flashing before the eyes. These are but a few of the many Symptoms.

Just think it over. I fit glasses for defective visions, and eye strain—that's all, but a little piece of glass will work wonders.

I charge nothing for consultation. If glasses are not needed, I will tell you; if they are I will furnish them at a reasonable price. A trial is all I ask. Neither can you relieve the strain by "hoping your eyes will become stronger." Weak eyes, when in need of glasses, always go from bad to worse.
